

FULL TIME / PARIS, FRANCE COMMUNICATIONS & INFLUENCE MANAGER M/F

1 OUR MISSION

We believe in a future where nature and technology could blend, to address the next technological challenges.

Woodoo is specialized in groundbreaking biomaterials based on the structural transformation of wood at the molecular level. Our wood materials can be translucent and tactile, or 4 x sturdier and weather resistant, with applications in automotive, aeronautics, luxury or consumer electronics. We are here to help the industry reduce its carbon footprint by providing alternatives to carbon-emissive materials. We strive to produce renewable materials from regenerative forestry. Woodoo has won more than 40 major international and national awards (from MIT, World Economic Forum, Horizon H2O2O, Solar Impulse Foundation...).

2 JOB DESCRIPTION

Woodoo Communications Team is looking for a Communications & PR Manager that will be responsible for helping lead the day-to-day operations of our media relations, communications and events programs. You will work closely with our internal teams including marketing, sales, product development and CSR. As the second member of the team, you will be reporting to and partnering closely with our SVP Communications, Marketing & Impact to increase awareness and develop an enviable corporate image. You will drive plans that support the company's goals across a variety of audiences including the industries of mobility, luxury, retail and construction, the financial community and the media.

The successful candidate will be an autonomous, fast moving multi-tasker with a strong understanding of deeptech products and corporate BtoB communications, the changing media and social networks landscape and with experience working with key journalists and influencers.

At Woodoo, we are not just building our brand trust, we are at the forefront of the new materials revolution. This is a rare opportunity to storytell at the intersection of some of today's most significant global challenges: sustainability, decarbonation, innovation and regenerative forestry. A deep love for wood is not only a plus. It is required.
